

You May Get Wet

Charleston's wetlands diversity enables paddlers to choose among several distinct eco-tours with Nature Adventures Outfitters (483 W. Coleman Blvd., 843-568-3222). Float your watercraft through 1,000-year-old cypress trees, rice fields where eagles nest and wetland wildflowers on a Blackwater Tour. Or opt for the Saltwater Tour and sail by 4,000-year-old Indian ruins, dolphin communities and nesting Eastern shorebirds. They also offer on-your-own rentals (kayaks, canoes and paddleboats) and overnight guided trips. In addition to offering great tours (they've been recognized by National Geographic), this organization is known for its environmental awareness outreach. Fun for you, good for the earth. Now go get wet!