Calling All Agents

Just gaining entry into Prohibition will help you live out your secret agent fantasies. Based on this tip about the new bar's existence (you're welcome), you'll first need to secure the daily access code. (Hint: Try dining upstairs at Cellar 56, a great tapas restaurant and wine bar operated by Prohibition's owners. Be kind to your servers, ask nicely and they may share the number.) Then locate the front door. (It's actually an original antique London phone booth adjacent to a door labeled "Acme Antiques: Closed for Business.") Walk into the phone booth, dial the secret number, wait for the beep, then push the back wall open to enter the warmly lit room. Inside, expert mixologists prepare classic and modern cocktails using top-notch spirits (including many small-batch, less-well-known brands). Tasty food and rare cigars are also on the menu. Hey, 007 has nothing on you. 56 East Andrews Dr., www.prohibitionatl.com. —HSP
