Forward to Friends

When married chefs launch the restaurant of their dreams, it's easy to imagine that they agonized over every detail as if re-planning their wedding. Proof is in the details, like the perfectly balanced stainless steel steak knives and the high-tech hand dryer that makes the bathroom a must-see. Captivating as the design details are, food commands the big picture. Chefs Joe Truex and Mihoko Obunai trained at the Culinary Institute of America and French Culinary Institute, respectively, and both have cooked for the James Beard House. The menu, billed as "American cuisine with metropolitan flair," features an array of creative dishes that change seasonally. Signature dishes like Sweetwater 420® mussels with apple bacon ($8), roasted duck breast with red wine risotto and escargot confit ($22), a daily macrobiotic composition ($16), and banana pecan bread pudding ($6) feature well-matched ingredients. Dine here for an experience to remember happily ever after.
